

Terry Kana

Senior Lecturer in Tropical Nursing and Midwifery & Director of Studies for the Diploma in Tropical Nursing, Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine.

Clinical work as both nurse and midwife in the UK as well as in humanitarian settings and low-income countries such as Nepal, Chechnya, Somalia, Burundi, DRC, and Lesotho. Past decade spent at LSTM in research, consultancy and teaching roles in Bangladesh, Pakistan, India, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Cambodia, and Kenya – currently writing up a PhD on the scope of practice and workload of nurse midwives in low- and middle-income settings.

Rachel Fletcher

Experienced emergency nurse of 15+ years. Completed a nursing degree in Northern Ireland but last 9 years working full time within the humanitarian sector, mainly in large scale emergency health responses and coordination in numerous countries and contexts. Experience with several organisations such as MSF, Concern Worldwide, GOAL, Save the Children & WHO.

Ste Payne

4 years as a Paediatric Emergency Nurse from Manchester, UK. Currently undertaking a 12-month post in Kenema, Sierra Leone as learning and development manager at the MSF Academy for nurses working at the MSF Hanga Hospital. Previously posted at the Northwest Nightingale Hospital during the height of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Sara Visús Marco

Previous Senior Staff Nurse in the emergency department at the Bristol Royal Infirmary

Sara Daglio

SRN, Practice Education Facilitator, ED Bristol Royal Infirmary

Naomi Sharrock

University of Leeds graduate in children's nursing. In the 3 years since graduation placed in PICU and then the paediatric emergency department at Leeds General Infirmary. Past two months working in Laos as a clinical educator at a children's hospital's new high acuity unit

Rosa Gallop

Sister in Leeds General Infirmary Emergency Department. Past two years worked with GECCo UK - passionate about advocating for nursing involvement in global health

Willem Sools

Netherlands-trained adult nurse. Previous work with Médecins du Monde and currently with Save the Children for many years. Supported large scale health responses, such as rapid establishment of mobile health units, vaccination campaigns and isolation and treatment centres for cholera, Ebola, measles & COVID-19 in many contexts globally. Strong passion for quality of care and capacity building, particularly within infection, prevention & control.

Emmanuel Acheampong

Principal Nursing Officer (Emergency), Nurse Lead for AFEM. National Advanced Trauma Life Support Coordinator. Interim General Secretary for the Ghana Emergency Medicine Society. NMC's Chief Examiner for the BSc Emergency Nursing program. In 2021 served as a Critical Care Nurse Consultant for WHO/AFRO in the Kingdom of eSwatini on COVID-19.

Emilio Hornsey

Infection Prevention and Control (IPC) nurse with the UK Public Health Rapid Support Team (UK-PHRST). Background in emergency and prehospital care, before moving into infectious disease control. Previous work with NHS, military & NGOs in a variety of operational contexts and roles. Supports countries to strengthen critical capacities in IPC during outbreak response

